

Appearance of photographic film after a short period of time with:

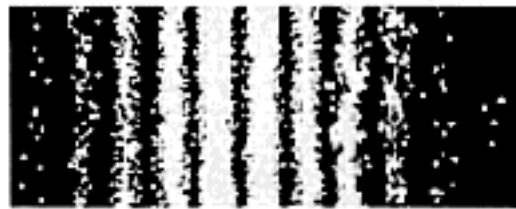

low intensity light.

a low intensity beam of electrons.

Appearance of photographic film after a long period of time with electrons incident on two slits

Handout 1